

ICRC

<https://www.scholargrades.online/job/icrc-internship/>

Icrc Internship For Graduate Students 2024-2025

Description

Embarking on an internship with the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) offers an unparalleled opportunity to delve into the world of humanitarian work. This experience not only enhances your professional skills but also allows you to contribute significantly to global humanitarian efforts.

An ICRC internship provides the chance to work within a dynamic team committed to alleviating human suffering and protecting the lives and dignity of victims of armed conflict and other situations of violence. Interns at ICRC are involved in various projects and tasks that support the organization's mission, including research, analysis, and administrative support, depending on the department in which they are placed.

Responsibilities

Interns at ICRC might find themselves undertaking a range of responsibilities, including:

- Assisting in the preparation of reports and presentations.
- Conducting research on topics relevant to humanitarian work.
- Supporting field missions and operations through data analysis and coordination.
- Engaging with stakeholders to facilitate smooth communication and project implementation.
- Assisting in organizing meetings, workshops, and seminars.

Qualifications

To qualify for an ICRC internship, candidates typically need to be enrolled in or have recently completed a degree program related to international relations, law, social sciences, or a related field. A strong academic record, along with a keen interest in humanitarian work, is essential. Proficiency in English is often required, and knowledge of additional languages, especially French, can be advantageous.

Job Benefits

Interning with the ICRC offers numerous benefits, including:

- Gaining valuable insights and experience in international humanitarian operations.
- Networking opportunities with professionals and experts in the field.
- Exposure to the workings of a leading humanitarian organization.
- Personal and professional growth through hands-on experience.
- A potential stepping stone to a career in humanitarian work.

Experience

While specific experience requirements can vary, having prior experience in international settings, volunteering, or involvement in community service projects can be beneficial. Interns are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to

Hiring organization

Icrc Internship

Employment Type

Full-time, Intern

Duration of employment

7

Industry

Non-profit Organizations

Job Location

London, England, United Kingdom,
E1 7HT, London, England, United Kingdom

Working Hours

8

Base Salary

10

Date posted

May 11, 2025

Valid through

27.04.2028

humanitarian principles and the ability to work in challenging environments.

Skills

Successful interns typically possess the following skills:

- Strong analytical and research capabilities.
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills.
- Ability to work independently and as part of a team.
- Adaptability and resilience in dynamic situations.
- Cultural sensitivity and a global perspective.

Contacts

The application process for an ICRC internship generally involves submitting an online application through the ICRC careers portal. Applicants are required to provide a resume, cover letter, and sometimes additional documents like transcripts or writing samples. The selection process may include interviews to assess candidates' motivation, skills, and alignment with ICRC's values and mission.

Embarking on an internship with the ICRC is more than just a career opportunity; it's a chance to make a tangible impact on the world. If you are passionate about humanitarian work and eager to develop your skills in a challenging yet rewarding environment, an internship with the ICRC could be your next step.